

ABSTRACT

This thesis entitles “Analysis of Application Social inclusion by the Regional Archives and Library Regency of Wonosobo to its Users”. The purpose of this study is to find out about the application of social inclusion by the Regional Archive and Library Regency of Wonosobo to its user. The research design used in this study is descriptive qualitative. The selection of subject was done by nonprobability sampling with purposive sampling type. The method of data collection carried out in this study was by in-depth interviews and observation. The method of data analysis in this study used the interactive data analysis method model by Miles and Huberman. The validity test in this study was carried out using data triangulation source. The result shows that Archives and Library Regency of Wonosobo as a public service institution had successfully implemented social inclusion in its users. This implement is carried out by determining the market segment or target, service provided and developed, and also service space in the Regional Archives and Library Regency of Wonosobo.

Keywords: library users; regional library; social inclusion