

ABSTRACT

This thesis entitled "Implementation of the Code of Ethics of Librarians at UPT Library of Diponegoro University". The purpose of this study is to find out how the application of code of ethics librarian at UPT Diponegoro University Library Semarang. This study uses a case study approach. While this type of research is descriptive qualitative research because the problem under study is the application of the code of ethics librarian, the study is more related to social problems and the author also wants to explore the problem. There are 9 informants in this study who are librarians who work at UPT Library University of Diponegoro and user. Data analysis using data reduction techniques. And the result of this research is the code of ethics librarian has been applied well seen from some aspects, those are basic attitude of librarian, librarian relationship with user and librarian relationship with co-worker. Although the implementation of the code of ethics librarian is good, but there are also obstacles that is the lack of understanding of some librarians against the code of ethics librarians and less strictly sanctions code of ethics librarians.

Keywords: the code of ethics of librarians, librarian's performance evaluation, the librarian profession, librarian of UPT Library of Diponegoro University