

Abstract

As evidence of legal ownership of a land. So the need for land registration throughout the territory of the Republic of Indonesia, as regulated in Article 19 of the UUPA. Through the implementation of a complete systematic land registration program. Land registration can help in social and economic fields.

The purpose of this research is to determine the important role that is claimed by the Village Apparatus Tambakrejo, Pemalang District, Pemalang Regency. In organizing a complete systematic land registration program in 2019.

The research method used in this research is juridical empirical, descriptive analytical research. Sources and types of data used are primary data through interviews and field observations and secondary data in the form of laws and regulations and literature. By using a qualitative analysis method as a conclusion in writing this law.

Based on the results of research conducted by the author, the importance of the role of village officials in implementing PTSL. Or it can be said that the village government is directly related to the community and the object of PTSL. In its implementation, the Village Apparatus facilitates the PTSL Program. starting from providing information in the form of community data regarding land parcels, finding the origin of the land to resolving land boundary disputes. The implementation of the PTSL program in Tambakrejo Village, Pemalang District, Pemalang Regency is going well. Village officials and the PTSL committee help each other in implementing PTSL.

Keywords : Role, Village Officials, PTSL